

Abstract

A projection display screen that can electrically alter the reflectivity of a region of the projection display screen in response to the intensity of incident projected light that is applied at the region.